

Founded in 2014, LTIIA brings together investors that collectively manage in excess of 12 trillion US dollars of assets and that include some of the most active long-term investors globally in the field of infrastructure.

We convey investor perspectives to governments and regulators as they develop policy frameworks on infrastructure.

LTIIA helped the European authorities shape the definition and treatment of infrastructure as a lower-risk, long-term asset class under Solvency II.

We champion data collection and development of analytical tools to assist our members and the wider investment community with unique insights into their portfolios.

Working with EDHEC Infrastructure Institute, LTIIA supports the development of long-term infrastructure performance benchmarks. Working with eFront, we are building software tools that help investors track their ESG compliance. LTIIA, together with the OECD and the GI Hub, is leading the Private Pillar of the G20 Infrastructure Data Initiative.

We facilitate and promote the highest level of Environmental, Social and Governance responsibility in infrastructure investing.

Together with our members, we produced ESG Handbook for long term investors in infrastructure. In the B20 context, LTIIA has promoted greater convergence in basic ESG definitions for infrastructure.

We convene senior representatives from public and private sectors to tackle infrastructure investment issues and organize specialist events around the world.

Our events featured top executives from U.S. Treasury and Department of Transportation, the European Commission, the World Bank and IMF, renowned academics and opinion leaders in the infrastructure marketplace.

LTIIA members receive free or privileged access to all products developed or sponsored by LTIIA, including free access to restricted benchmarking reports produced by EDHEC Infrastructure Institute. LTIIA members receive free access to all our events and significant discounts for third party events where LTIIA contributes.
